The court chamber was uncomfertably rowded when the proceedings began at 11 o'clock to-day. Scores of people, including many women, were denied admittance.

Webster claims that Goodwin knocked at the door of the flat in the Percival occupied by him and Evelyn Granville, his common law wife, on Sunday evening Aug. 2, intent on repeating insulting propositions to that young roman, and that he (Webster) received a blow in the face and followed the fleeing intruder to his apartments on the same floor for the purpose of remenstrating, when he was assaulted by Goodwin, who used a cuspir as a weapon, and struck him to the fac with it, cutting a gash, and frightening him so that he fired the fatal shot in self-defense. In the course of a two-minute talk with an Evening World reporter to-day Webster
